Shawe awards Willoughby Golden Shamrock award

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Dr. Cameron Willoughby was awarded the 2022 Golden Shamrock by Prince of Peace Catholic Schools recently. The Golden Shamrock is the highest award within Prince of Peace Catholic Schools, and is based on long-term support of the schools, serving in organizations, long-term community and volunteer service, having a positive image in the community, and other criteria in review by the Golden Shamrock committee. Willoughby, a 2003 Shawe Memorial High School graduate, said he is “especially thankful as I feel strongly that our schools played an important role in shaping me into who I am today.” Willoughby, who accepted the award following the all schools Mass in Hilary Meny Gymnasium on Thursday, said his work for

Prince of Peace schools “gives me balance in my life. For me it’s about the opportunity to help our kids grow and sharing in their experiences along the way. I have left and will continue to leave pieces of me on the soccer field, in the baseball dugouts and even here in this gym.” “I truly hope that my involvement with our students leaves them feeling important, inspired, and empowered to go out and make themselves better people both on and off the field. I hope they find that sense of belonging here in our school family that I have grown to feel. Remember, we are not defined by our successes and failures, but rather by the investment of ourselves in the people and places that mean the most to us.” Willoughby has served on the board of directors for Friends of Shawe and Pope John from 2012 to present. He has also been Shawe’s varsity assistant baseball coach from 2010 to present, varsity assistant soccer coach from 2011 to 2018, and 2021 to present, and junior high assistant baseball coach in 2008 and 2009. Additionally, he was an assistant baseball/T-ball coach with the Madison Parks Department from 2000 to 2007, assistant coach with Jefferson County Soccer Association teams from 1999-2005, and was involved in the Kaleidocope Youth Center in Indianapolis in 2004. Willoughby earned an undergraduate degree at Butler University then received his doctorate in pharmacy in 2009. He has been a member of the National Society of Collegiate Scholars since 2004, and a member of the Butler Pharmacy Technology Initiative from 2005 to 2007.

Whaley to be next principal at Lydia Middleton

BY BOB DEMAREE
With the retirement of Tracy Ahlbrand, there will be a new principal at Lydia Middleton Elementary for the 2022-2023 school year, and Trent Whaley received a warm welcome from the school’s teachers and staff at Wednesday’s meeting of the Madison School Board. Whaley, who officially assumes his role as principal on July 1, is in his third year as principal of Jac-Cen-Del Elementary in Osgood. Before that, he taught second and third grades at Switzerland County Elementary in East Enterprise for five years and prior to that he was a teacher at Southwest Elementary in Greenwood for four years. Whaley, who received a Bachelor of Arts degree in elementary education and teaching at Franklin College, said he decided to leave the classroom and pursue administration because he “felt that if I moved into administration I could have a greater impact on the whole school and students, and that’s where I wanted to head professionally.” So completed his Master of Science in Educational in School Administration and Supervision from Indiana State University.

Hanover man, Louisville woman die in Jennings County head-on crash

BY THE COURIER STAFF
A Hanover man and Louisville woman died Friday in a head-on crash involving three vehicles on US 50 in western Jennings County. The crash, which occurred shortly after 8 a.m. on Friday, resulted in the deaths of Skyler S. Short, 20, Hanover, and Halle S. Elliott, 19, Louisville. The initial investigation by troopers with the Indiana State Police-Versailles Crash Reconstruction Team indicated that a 2012 Chevrolet Cruze, driven by Elliott, was traveling eastbound on US 50 near County Road 575 West between Seymour and North Vernon. For an unknown reason, Elliott’s vehicle crossed the center line into the path of a westbound 2014 Freightliner semi pulling a trailer, driven by Jacob E. Hyman, 28, North Vernon.

Elliott’s vehicle struck the rear of Hyman’s trailer and the collision caused Elliott’s vehicle to turn sideways into the path of a westbound 2019 Ford Edge driven by Robert A. Keener, 54, North Vernon. The front of Keener’s vehicle struck the passenger side of Elliott’s vehicle. Keener’s vehicle came to stop in the westbound lanes of US 50 while Elliott’s vehicle overturned, coming to rest off the north side of the road. Short, a 2018 graduate of Southwestern High School, was the front seat passenger in the vehicle driven by Elliott. Both Short and Elliott were pronounced dead at the scene by the Jennings County Coroner’s Office. Hyman and Keener were not injured in the crash.

Customer service in 2022: Pros and cons

Dear Readers: You overwhelmed me with interesting replies to “Too Impersonal,” the letter saying that there is a lack of customer service today. Here is a sampling:

Dear Annie: I’m younger and, on the flip side, most people of my generation hate talking on the phone and also find the internet easier and better for many reasons. First, it’s easier to visualize your seat on a plane or date on a calendar or whatever else when picking online. Second, all answers to your questions are typed out and on record, so you won’t accidentally be screwed by a person giving you a wrong answer. You also can go back and reference them when needed. I see all of these things as customer service, just a different form. I honestly get very frustrated when I email a question and get called back, because then I have no record of what I was told, and if it was wrong, I’m stuck with no recourse or defense. — Millennial

Dear Annie: I am approaching my 40s and have worked in customer service my whole life. What many call “efficiency” is essentially taking resources away from the workers at the bottom — call centers, grocery stores, doctor’s offices — in the name of cost effectiveness. Why pay workers in America an American living wage when you can pay workers in India or Mexico pennies on the dollar in wages? Our current work and business culture puts profits over people at every turn, and this includes the customers and the workers. — Bigger Issue

Dear Annie: I worked for 25 years in the corporate world in customer service at an insurance company. The company motto was, “establish lifetime relationships with our members.” But once I got them on a plan, I was never able to talk to them. They had to be transferred, and they could never talk to the same person. I decided to become an independent agent specializing in Medicare. Now I’m living the dream, meeting face-to-face with seniors in their home. I meet their dogs and their grandchildren, and sadly I attend their funerals. They get “snail mail,” handwritten cards in the mail. I feel like I have about 400 grandparents. — Living the Dream

Dear Annie: I am also frustrated by the lack of customer service today compared with years ago, but computers make many other aspects of our lives much easier. Younger generations seem to thrive in this scenario today. I’ve learned to adapt and now get compliments from younger people who are surprised by my ability to utilize the computer and iPhone. I used to work in a bank and often saw long lines of customers waiting to handle their transactions, as everyone at one time did all their banking in person. I still go to my bank, and there are no long lines of customers today. — Computer Savvy in the Midwest

Roberts appointed new executive director for Child Advocates

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Whitney Roberts has been appointed the new executive director for Child Advocates of Jefferson County, a nonprofit organization that represents abused and neglected children in court. Roberts had been with Voices for Children since 2016, first as a CASA volunteer then in 2018 when she began serving as program manager as she oversaw all cases and field staff. In 2022, Child Advocates split from Voices for Children to become its own independent organization. All employees were retained under the new director, along with the existing board members that include John Hutchinson, Lindsay Black and Kim Perkins. Meanwhile, Linda Zapp was appointed the new board president and new members were recruited from the community — Michelle Clark, Pam Crozier, Nadja Boone and Tammy Courtney, who joined the board in January. “We are absolutely delighted to work with Whitney in this capacity,” said Zapp. “She displayed great passion and showed empathy towards all parties in the cases as well as innovative ideas and points of view.” She added, “When Whitney was at Voices for Children, she was an integral part of the program’s growth.” Roberts said, “I remain humbled and grateful as I’ve always been to continue working with our community members who navigate the foster case system with a child. It has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life,” noting that the organization’s work can impact the lives of children by changing “the trajectory of their lives through best interest advocacy.”

She’s been an outstanding mentor and leader in that building, and she has earned her retirement.” Meanwhile, Studebaker also announced the hiring of Brenda Galliher as a junior high science teacher. Madison Superintendent Dr. Jeffrey Studebaker said that when Jac-Cen-Del Superintendent Ryan Middleton was asked about Whaley, “he said that Mr. Whaley is a principal who is involved with his staff and really listens and thinks about a situation or question before answering or making a decision.” Studebaker said that during the interview process Whaley “stated that his vision for a successful school is one in which the staff is ‘all about our students and our building having a great kid atmosphere.’ Throughout the interview process it was clear Mr. Whaley truly lives that world view. His answers were kid-focused and it was obvious when watching him interact with student tour guides at Lydia Middleton that he truly is a kid-focused educator who easily connects with students.” On his second interview when he toured the 1923 school, Whaley said he was impressed “to get inside and see how neat the architecture. It’s modern but it still has got the charm from the 20s.” Additionally, he said, “I have heard wonderful things about the staff and students. I’m very excited.” A native of Bloomington, Whaley met his wife Stephanie Adams Whaley while a student at Franklin College, and noted she is a native of Switzerland County, which landed them in Vevay where they currently live. “We’re very familiar with the Madison community. We’ve shopped here, and we eat here, and it’s a very neat community. We’re excited to be a part of it.” Whaley has been active in the Indiana New Administrator Leadership Institute (INALI) and the Indiana Association of School Principals. Additionally, he’s been involved with the Historic Hoosier Theater in Vevay and is a member of the Florence Masonic Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. Studebaker thanked the

Kupp’s late TD lifts Rams over Bengals in Super Bowl

BY BARRY WILNER
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Their defense laying siege to the Bengals, the Rams needed something — anything — from their slumbering offense.

How about a precise 79-yard drive to the Lombardi Trophy?

It wasn't a classic march, aided by three successive Bengals penalties and mired by some bad throws. No matter: When Cooper Kupp caught a 1-yard pass from Matthew Stafford with 1:25 remaining, LA's offense indeed had awakened just in time for a 23-20 Super Bowl victory Sunday.

“That’s hard work, that’s hours together,” Stafford said. “I just thank coach (Sean McVay) for putting it ... ‘Hey, Matthew, you and Coop go get this thing done.’ He kept calling plays for him, kept finding ways to get him the ball. He made unbelievable plays; that’s what he does.”

What Los Angeles did on that drive finally measured up to what its defense was doing most of the night: overwhelming Cincinnati’s blockers, sacking Joe Burrow a Super Bowl record-tying seven times. The pressure, led by Aaron Donald and Von Miller, was nonstop.

“You got to be relentless,” said Donald, who added a crowning achievement to his certain Hall of Fame career. “You want something bad enough you’ve got to go get it. You know it was right in front of us ... all offseason you work, you train, you got camp, you got a long season just for this one game. You know we the last team standing.”

Standing in a venue built for champions, with the Rams (16-5) earning their first NFL title since the 1999 season — and their first representing Los Angeles since 1951.

They did so in their home, the $5 billion SoFi Stadium, making the Rams the second consecutive host to win the championship after Tampa Bay became the first a year ago.

“As far as building this stadium,” said Rams owner Stan Kroenke, the man who moved them back from St. Louis in 2016, “I think it turned out all right.”

The winning series, during which game MVP Kupp’s 4-yard touchdown reception was negated by offsetting penalties, ended soon after with the NFL Offensive Player of the Year easily beating Eli Apple in the right corner of the end zone for the winning score.

Kupp had four receptions for 39 yards, and a 7-yard run on fourth-and-1 from the Rams 30 on the championship drive.

Cincinnati (13-8) was penalized the second-fewest times (72) for the fewest yards (620) in the regular season but flags hurt badly — including pass interference on Kupp in the end zone.

“I’ve said it all year, whatever is asked of me whatever my job is gonna be, I just want to execute to the best of my abilities,” said Kupp, who won the triple crown of receiving in 2021, leading in catches, yards and touchdowns. “I trust as the game goes on I’ll have opportunities as well, and I just want to stay ready for those things stay locked in.”

As locked in as that pass rush.

Fittingly, Burrow was under pressure on fourth-and-1 and threw incomplete, setting off a football fiesta this city has not seen since the LA Raiders won the 1983 championship.

A tearful Donald said after the game, “I wanted it so bad. I dreamed this.”

Added McVay, at 36 the youngest Super Bowl-winning head coach: “For the offense to be able to find a way, and then Aaron to be able to finish it off, it’s poetic, man.”

Ten points because of two plays in a span of 22 seconds at the outset of the third quarter put Cincinnati ahead for the first time.

Tee Higgins’ 75-yard score made it 17-13 and was followed one play later by Chidobe Awuzie’s pick. Evan McPherson tied Adam Vinatieri’s postseason record with his 14th field goal, a 38-yarder. The rookie didn’t miss in the postseason.

Higgins beat All-Pro cornerback Jalen Ramsey on the first play of the second half — the receiver clearly tugged Ramsey’s face mask on the play. After Stafford was intercepted on the next play, the Bengals got McPherson’s field goal.

They tried to hold on as all of southwest Ohio held its breath.

“I was disappointed in my performance overall,” said Burrow, the NFL Comeback Player of the Year who was 22 of 33 for 263 yards and a touchdown. That’s going to propel us into next year ... we’re not satisfied with what we did this year.”

Energized from the outset, the crowd of 70,048 at the stadium that opened in 2020 roared to introductions of each team by The Rock. Then the Bengals fans, far louder than their Rams counterparts early on, got to rocking when Trey Hendrickson sacked Stafford, leading to a punt.

Not after the 15-play march in which Kupp also converted a fourth down with his run.

“We wanted to be in attack mode and pressure them as much as possible,” Bengals coach Zac Taylor said. “Sometimes it worked, sometimes it didn’t.”

Kupp even earned the MVP honor despite often being double-teamed after fellow wideout Odell Beckham Jr. — who had a touchdown catch on Los Angeles’ second drive for the game’s first score — went out with a knee injury in the second period. Kupp finished with eight receptions for 92 yards.

One fear for Rams followers was ill-advised throws by Stafford, and he had two. His deep pass moving left was picked in the end zone late in the first half by Jessie Bates III. On his second interception, rookie Ben Skowronek could only deflect it — directly to Awuzie.

Other than Matt Gay’s 41-yard field goal later in the third quarter, it was all defense until the Rams’ decisive drive.

“World champs, baby!” McVay proclaimed.

Energized from the outset, the crowd of 70,048 at the stadium that opened in 2020 roared to introductions of each team by The Rock. Then the Bengals fans, far louder than their Rams counterparts early on, got to rocking when Trey Hendrickson sacked Stafford, leading to a punt.

LA’s defense responded by holding on third and fourth downs with a yard to go at mid-field. Ernest Jones knocked down a pass for Ja’Marr Chase to turn over the ball, and the excellent field position set up the first touchdown.

Beckham, who joined the Rams in Week 10 after being exiled from Cleveland, easily beat Mike Hilton on a corner pattern for the 17-yard score. Then Beckham showed off his moonwalk in the end zone.

Kupp’s first touch was a short throw from Stafford he turned into a 20-yard gain when Bates III fanned on a tackle. That would not be the last whiff by the Bengals, and it cost them mightily at the end.

The most intriguing matchup, Offensive Rookie of the Year receiver Chase against All-Pro Ramsey, got real juicy late in the opening quarter. Chase brilliantly tracked Burrow’s throw and made a one-handed grab over Ramsey for a 46-yard gain to the LA 11. The drive went no further and McPherson made a 29-yarder.

Beckham took advantage of two defenders colliding to pick up 35 yards on the next drive, Darrell Henderson got 25 while covered by Hendrickson dropping back — huh? — and Kupp was wide open in the right corner of the end zone for his 11-yard score.

“It just comes down to this team and the way we prepared, they way we loved on each other, trusted each other,” Kupp said.

As has been their wont when behind in the playoffs, though, the Bengals responded with a 75-yard drive capped by the trickery of Joe Mixon. He was so efficient running that the secondary was sucked in when Burrow handed off, and Mixon lobbed a 6-yard TD pass to Higgins.

It remained 13-10 until halftime, with Beckham’s left knee injury most notable; he had to be helped off the field and didn’t return.

Thanks greatly to Kupp, though, the Rams finished it off.

“We always talk about there’s something special about being a part of something bigger than yourself,” McVay said. “These guys play for one another.”

Southwestern beats Rising Sun, Milan to clinch 6th straight winning season

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Southwestern clinched a winning record for a school-record sixth straight season with a pair of Ohio River Valley Conference wins over the weekend.

The Rebels, who have now won six-straight games, improved to 13-5 on the season and 4-1 in ORVC play after holding off Rising Sun 68-51 at home on Friday, then blowing away Milan 84-37 on the road on Saturday afternoon.

With only four games left in the regular season, Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum likes his team’s progression.

“I think what makes us really hard is to guard right now is that you just never know which guy is going to come at you on that night,” Nussbaum said. “I think our kids show how unselfish they are because they don’t care who scores and that was the case tonight.”

Southwestern matched Rising Sun’s physicality to pull away in the first half and cruise to the win. The Shiners didn’t give Southwestern any easy shots and made them fight for every point they got.

But Southwestern eventually wore down the Shiners. Leading just 14-13 with two minutes left in the first quarter, the Rebels got two free throws from Hunter Wiseman, a 3-pointer by Peyton Gwin and a tough basket inside from Parker Davis to take a 21-13 lead into the second quarter.

The Rebels then used two small runs — one 9-4 and the other 8-0 — to pull away in the second quarter and lead by 15 (38-23) at halftime.

Rising Sun (7-10, 2-1 ORVC) didn’t go away in the second half but it also couldn’t chip into Southwestern’s lead. Every time the Shiners scored a few baskets, the Rebels were there to quickly answer and end the run.

“It starts with the leadership on the floor and it starts with Zach Cole. Any time (Rising Sun) made a run, our guys are talking and getting gathered and trying to get in the right place,” Nussbaum said. “This senior group is just awesome. There’s just so many different personalities, but they’re all great kids, and they’re hard workers. And I’m really, really happy for them.”

Southwestern ended up outscoring Rising Sun by only two points in the second half but thanks to the second-quarter runs, the game was essentially over by the fourth quarter and the Rebels were able to cruise to the win.

Cole led four Rebels in double-digits with 16 points while Mitch Mingione and Davis scored 13 points each. Gwin added 10 points.

Saturday’s game wasn’t nearly as close. Southwestern jumped on Milan early, leading 23-12 after one quarter and 46-27 at halftime before cruising to the win. Jamison Lewis led the way for the Rebels with 17 points, Gwin scored 15, Davis had 13, Cole 12 and Mingione 11.

Southwestern returns to action tonight for its second stretch of three games in five days in the past three weeks. The Rebels host South Ripley in an ORVC matchup, then host Jennings County on Friday. Southwestern then closes out the weekend with a road game at Scottsburg on Saturday.

“I’ve told our boys it’s kind of like a sectional feel. If we want to win the sectional, we’re going to have to win three games in one week,” Nussbaum said. “I’m sure the boys will enjoy the lack of practice.”

Swimmers, wrestlers see seasons end deep in tournament

BY THE COURIER STAFF

The high school sports season came to an end for one local swimmer and three wrestlers in tournament action over the weekend.

Southwestern freshman Raygan Crawford finished 32nd in the 100-yard butterfly state preliminaries at the IUPUI Natorium in Indianapolis on Friday. Crawford, just the second Lady Rebel to ever earn a berth to the state finals, finished with a time of 1:05.84, far off her school-record performance of 1:02.39 set while winning the sectional title last Monday at Floyd Central.

But even matching that record performance would have only moved Crawford up two spots in what was an extremely fast field in Indianapolis. Carmel freshman Alex Shackell won the event with a time of 51.71, — a new state record — and a total of 11 swimmers finished in under 57 seconds.

Crawford was the first Southwestern swimmer to ever win a sectional title and joins Carolina Curioni (2016) as the only Rebels to ever qualify for the state finals. Only a freshman, Crawford has three more years to add to her legacy.

All three local wrestlers lost in the opening round of the IHSAA Semistate at Evansville on Saturday, missing a berth to the state finals.

Madison junior Van Skinner suffered a close 7-3 loss to Castle’s John Purdy, the state’s top-ranked wrestler, at 195 pounds. Skinner finishes his season with a 42-4 record but three of those losses came in the tournament after he suffered an LCL tear in his left knee in early January. It is the second year an injury has hampered Skinner’s chances to make the state finals but he will give it one more shot next year.

Madison junior Emmitt Willhite and Switzerland County freshman Gabe Rose both lost in the opening round at 138 pounds.

Willhite was pinned in 54 seconds by Castle’s Ashton Hayhurst and finishes the season with a 13-5 record. Rose lost an 11-4 decision to Keegan Williams of Evansville Reitz and finishes the season with a 35-5 record.

The boys swimming state tournament gets underway this week with the sectional round starting on Thursday at Floyd Central. The finals will be on Saturday afternoon.

Madison boys drop tough games to Floyd, Greensburg

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Madison lost two games by nearly identical scores during its toughest weekend stretch of the season in boys basketball.

The Cubs lost 67-28 to former Hoosier Hills Conference rival Floyd Central Friday on homecoming, then dropped a 67-35 loss at Greensburg on Saturday.

Madison played close with the powerful Highlanders for nearly two quarters before Floyd's size and experience wore down the young Cubs. After leading just 12-7 after the first quarter and 28-13 at halftime, Floyd dominated the second half 39-15 to pull away.

Six-foot-five senior Jackson Falconberry did his best to battle the Highlanders inside, scoring 12 points and pulling down 10 rebounds to lead Madison. Fellow senior Henry Grote added seven points and five rebounds while freshman Adam Traylor scored five points.

Brady Moore had 18 points and Wesley Celichowski had 11 points to lead Floyd Central (16-2).

"I'm really proud of all my guys. It's a cliché to say 'the scoreboard doesn't indicate the game' but I really feel like we fought Floyd Central — who in my opinion is a top five team in the state — for a good half and then some," Madison coach Adam Stotts said. "Just ran out of gas and size."

It was a similar story on Saturday against Greensburg. Madison trailed 16-7 after the first quarter and was down 32-16 at halftime when the Pirates dominated the final two quarters to pull away.

Grote hit three 3-pointers and scored 13 points and had four rebounds to lead Madison while Falconberry had seven points and four rebounds. Freshmen Barron Welsh and Quincy Reynolds each scored four points for the Cubs.

Madison's Jackson Falconberry (0) shoots over a pair of Floyd Central defenders during the Cubs' loss at home on Friday.

Chloe Preocanin

Colin Comer scored 21 points, Ki Dyer had 13 and Addison Barnes scored 11 to lead Greensburg (17-4).

Madison, now 5-13 on the season, has lost six-straight games and begins a stretch of five games in the next 12 days, all on the road, to close out the regular season. The Cubs travel to Seymour on Wednesday for a make-up game from earlier in the season, then head to Columbus East on Friday. Madison will then travel back to Seymour to take on Trinity Lutheran on Saturday.

Freshman Craig leads Switzerland past Shawe

BY JORDAN BEAR

Switzerland County basketball has run its offense through Cam Craig all season and Friday night was no exception as the star freshman scored 24 points to lead the Pacers to a 63-27 win over Shawe and spoil the Hilltoppers' homecoming.

Craig tallied 10 points in the first quarter alone and the Hilltoppers just didn't have the firepower to keep up as Switzerland County pulled away to pick up its eighth win of the season.

"We're starting to play much better and starting to really click," Switzerland coach Travis Wrightsman said. "We're starting to get healthy. I know Jacob (Williams) hurt his hand a little bit there early on, but this team is finally starting to get healthy and we're starting to see some positive results."

The Pacers, who played a 1-2-2 or 2-3 zone all game, prevented Shawe from any scoring in the paint and, with the Hilltoppers' jump shots also not falling, Shawe trailed 36-13 at halftime.

The second half wasn't much better for Shawe which battled hard, but with cold shooting on offense and no answer for Craig on defense, coach Dan Hambrick knew it would be a tough night. Hambrick said part of that night have been his team didn't have the best focus for the game.

"There was so much going on with homecoming, the dance, getting

Stephanie Hellmann

Switzerland County's Canaan Johnson (30) attempts to block the shot of Shawe's Philip Kahn (35) during Friday's boys basketball game at Meny Gym in Madison.

dressed up, and our guys just could not focus," Hambrick said. "That, however, is never excusable as you always have to be ready to play and I feel my team just did not have the focus they needed tonight to play."

Although a freshman, Craig has played like seasoned veteran all year and coach Wrightsman hopes the chemistry with his team continues to build.

"This team just loves each other and they have for a while," Wrightsman said. "Cam is a special player, the older guys have known him for a few years and they knew what he was capable of, but he always tries to get his teammates involved and help them with their game."

HS BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Trimble boys fall to Williamstown in 97-90 shootout

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Trimble County scored plenty of points but allowed even more while falling 97-90 to Williamstown in a boys basketball shootout on Saturday.

Ethan Horn scored a career-high 25 points to lead the Raiders while James Thomas Wilcoxson added 24 and Hunter Kelley had 23. Dalton Penick chipped in 10 for Trimble and Tate Ogburn scored eight.

Trimble, now 7-20 overall and 0-7 in the North Central Kentucky Conference, closes out the regular season tonight at home against Bethlehem.

CARROLL BOYS SPLIT TWO GAMES

Carroll County suffered a loss in conference play but rebounded for its third win in four games in boys basketball over the weekend.

The Panthers lost to Williamstown 72-43 at home on Friday but then knocked off Pendleton County 74-62 on Saturday.

the North Central Kentucky Conference, traveled to Gallatin County on Monday and hosts Anderson County today. The Panthers wrap up the regular season at home against Walton-Vernon on Thursday.

Panthers pull away in 2nd half to clinch HCAC title

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Hanover pulled away in the second half to defeat Manchester 70-58 and clinch the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference regular-season men's basketball championship Saturday on the road.

The Panthers, now 18-3 overall, improved to 13-2 in HCAC play and will host the league's postseason tournament beginning on Sunday.

"I'm very proud of our players and very thankful to our current and past assistant coaches, alumni, and others who have played such important roles in helping make this happen," Hanover coach Jon Miller said. "Looking forward to continuing to work with Team 122!"

Hanover led just 32-30 at halftime, but dominated the final 20 minutes to seize the win. Ty Houston scored 20 points and had 14 rebounds to lead the Panthers in the winning effort while Isaac Hibbard had 15 points and six assists, and Max Greenamoyer scored 14 points.

Hanover hosts Transylvania tonight in a rare Tuesday night game, then closes the regular season Friday at Mount St. Joseph.

Hanover, now 12-8 overall, improved to 9-6 in HCAC play and sits a game and a half up on Rose-Hulman with two games to play. The top eight teams in the 10-team HCAC earn bids to the postseason tournament which begins on Sunday.

After playing to a 21-21 tie through the first 10 minutes, Hanover built a small seven-point lead (42-35) by halftime. The Panthers then dominated the third quarter, outscoring Manchester 29-18, to take control of the game.
